Run No.989:Binnie, Leeks and Stagg -Police Tactical Unit, Fanling

Just 9 stalwarts turned up for the bus at Queen's Pier at 9:30 on a sultry holiday Monday. Anticipation was naturally high: 3 really experienced old tarts were setting the run; the territory chosen was excellent, being - for Hong Kong - almost open country; there was none of that last minute panic associated with the sprint from the office to make a 6 p.m. start; and finally it was a joint run with the lovely ladies of LH4

Well apparently Stagg's kiddies's run was well received, but things soon deteriorated on the main run first of all we never seemed to get out of an endless squalid village, and at every turn there were these inevitable ferocious rabies-filled packs of dogs. Stig was the first to pack it in. The next problem was simply the humidity. Even Gover (dues for July-Dec now paid) agreed to an impromptu hash halt when he found himself unable to catch Vanessa up the first little rise. Just after that though came the best bit of the run - iced water just past the red "shooting in progress" flag. Shirts and hats suitably chilled, the pack bounded on, only to get completely stuffed once the road ran out. "I'm sure this way will get us back" said Collier, and off he and Phenix disappeared; Gover, Bernie Layfield and Hadyn led a group a very long way around a country road which later deteriorated into a 4 line highway, and eventually only Malcolm Gray, James Choi and visitor Bob Whitehead did the whole lot. They might even have seen the dangerous hole that Leeks had warned the pack about at the pre-run briefing; apparently the rest of the field missed a good trail.

Steve Robbins and Paul Collier soon chivvied a very respectable curry hamburger out of the tactical kitchen; there was plenty of Carlsberg, and apart from the premature departure of father-to be Binnie and the non-appearance of the bus to take the stalwarts back, things went almost without a hitch - even the kids seemed to enjoy themselves. Finally anyone who believed any of that bullshit about Korean girls needs his (or her) head examining - and that's the last word on that subject (unfortunately).

"There, there, big fella, was it real dark and smelly in there?"

"Have you been a streetwalker long?"

Dear Kit,

Sorry you got into trouble off Mr Pegg for putting in details of THE WANCHAI HASH in the H4 notes. I hope you told Mr Pegg it was nowt to do with me in my position as AGM of THE WANCHAI HASH. You see, Flacdem said it would be a good idea to put details of THE WANCHAI hash runs in the circular. I said some people might complain about putting details of THE WANCHAI HASH in the H4 circular but I believe you went ahead in all innocence, not realising that the GM would scold you for putting in details of the WANCHAI HASH in the H4 circular. He's right really and it is really not on to put details of THE WANCHAI HASH in the H4 circular so unless we have a 1000 th run or something coming up soon, we'll keep all mentions of THE WANCHAI HASH out of the H4 circular. This is the last mention of THE WANCHAI HASH. Oh by the way, next weeks run is a Sek O and we're at Lantau again the week after.
